Lectureships are faculty appointments that are appropriate for situations (a) where class enrollments are unstable and necessitate it, (b) where other appointments are not appropriate or available, or (c) where it is desired that unique expertise is provided.

Lecturers shall have appropriate qualifications that satisfy the University’s credentialing standards (Policy 4.6.1P), shall have faculty status, and shall not be subject to Policy 4.6.4P, Promotion and Tenure. They are appointed to teaching assignment. Their appointment shall consist primarily of teaching responsibilities but may, as needed, include service, research, or administrative responsibilities for an equivalent of a 5-5 fall and spring semester load. Lecturers cannot be tenured; perform any administrative, service or research duties, or teach less than the equivalent of a 5-5 load each fall and spring semester.

Lecturer appointments are on a year-by-year fixed nine-month contract basis and may be renewed annually for up to three consecutive years. Appointment contracts must include a detailed description of the specific responsibilities of the position and evaluation procedures. In order to qualify for one additional continuation appointment for up to two years, the department must (a) justify the need for continuation of the lecture position including provision of enrollment data and trends (for example, FTE-SCH analysis), (b) provide documentation to support the request, a plan for how the lecturer will be used in teaching, and evidence of acceptable teaching performance by the incumbent using normal department evaluation procedures for temporary faculty, and (c) gain approval of the appropriate college dean before a continuation contract can be issued. Rationale: The primary objective of a comprehensive regional university is to maintain the primacy of teaching and research, and shall not be subject to Policy 4.6.4P, Promotion and Tenure.

Senior lecturer appointments have the same responsibilities and terms as lecturers. Lecturers are eligible for appointment to this rank only after serving the second year of the continuation lecturer appointment. Appointment to this rank may be annually for periods up to five years provided evidence of satisfactory performance and enrollment demand. The department must (a) thoroughly justify the need for the senior lecturer appointment including providing detailed enrollment data, (b) provide documentation to support the request, a plan for how the senior lecturer will be used, and demonstrate acceptable teaching performance by the incumbent, and (c) gain approval of the appropriate college dean and the Provost before a senior lecturer contract can be issued. Appointment contracts must include a detailed description of the specific responsibilities of the position and evaluation procedures. In order to qualify for an additional continuation appointment for up to two years, the department must (a) justify the need for continuation of the senior lecturer position including provision of enrollment data and trends (for example, FTE-SCH analysis), (b) provide documentation to support the request, a plan for how the senior lecturer will be used in teaching, and evidence of acceptable teaching performance by the incumbent using normal department evaluation procedures for temporary faculty, and (c) gain approval of the appropriate college dean before a continuation contract can be issued.

Pursuant to KRS 164.351, 6(a), for the purposes of electing the faculty regent for the EKU Board of regents, it shall be understood that lecturers hold a rank equivalent to instructors and are, therefore, eligible to vote in the election for faculty regent.
responsibilities of the position and evaluation procedures.

Additional Terms

Lecturers and senior lecturers will receive compensation comparable to that of tenure-track faculty teaching similar courses and will receive comparable health insurance, life insurance, and retirement contributions.

Notice of non-reappointment or of intention not to recommend reappointment will comply with AAUP standards as follows: (a) Not later than March 1 of the first academic year of service, if the appointment expires at the end of that year or, if a one-year appointment terminates during the academic year, at least three months in advance of its termination; (b) not later than December 15 of the second academic year of service if the appointment expires at the end of that year or if an initial two-year appointment terminates during an academic year, at least six months in advance of its termination; and (c) at least twelve months before the expiration of an appointment after two or more years at Eastern Kentucky University.

Departments with lecturers must provide the tools necessary for these professionals to perform their assigned duties including appropriate office space, supplies, support services, and equipment.

Lecturers and senior lecturers may apply for a full-time tenure-track position and could negotiate for early tenure by applying some of the time spent as a lecturer or senior lecturer. However, this is not guaranteed and must be considered on a case-by-case basis by the department and college.
