Leading from the Margins: The Journey of a Rose that Grew in Concrete
Dr. Maria del Carmen Salazar
University of Denver

Thursday, May 18, 2017
1:00-4:00pm | First-Floor, John Grant Crabbe Main Library

Reception
4:30-6:00pm | Walnut Hall, Keen Johnson

About Dr. Maria del Carmen Salazar
Dr. Maria del Carmen Salazar’s research and scholarship center on transformative teacher preparation through empirical research on equitable and effective teaching. She has given over 100 scholarly presentations and 20 national and international keynote presentations on her research areas.

About the Workshop
Dr. Maria del Carmen Salazar will share her personal and professional journey to leadership through her corazon (heart) versus compliance. Participants will engage in reflection and discussion of their personal missions as educators. This workshop will offer:
• development of participants’ views on academic leadership;
• goal setting for leading from where you are;
• approaches for addressing leadership challenges; and
• strategies for identifying leadership aspirations.
Participants will receive resources for supporting leadership development.

studio.eku.edu/2017-pedagogicon-pre-conference-workshop

Faculty/Staff: $50
Students: $25

Cosponsored by: EKU University Diversity Office and EKU Office of the Provost